Introduction to library services for children and young adults. Topics include conceptualizing children and teens, information behaviour, media, multiple literacies, information spaces and places, programs, managing and evaluating services, diversity and inclusive services, community outreach, intellectual freedom and the information rights of children and young adults.

COURSE OUTCOMES

1. To contribute to an understanding of what it means to be a child or young adult, not only in terms of human development but also of changing constructions and representations of the notions of childhood and adolescence.
2. To identify, interpret and analyse research, professional and popular literatures related to children, young adults, information, media and library services.
3. To develop an understanding of the design, implementation and critical evaluation of library and information services and programming for children and young adults.

Upon successful completion of readings, assignments, and class participation, students will be able to:

1. apply a critical awareness of professional values, standards and ethics in the context of contemporary childhood and adolescence (Program-level learning outcomes 2, 3, 5);
2. prioritize from among a wide range of techniques to assess, recommend, evaluate and create access to information in a variety of formats and contexts for young people (Program-level learning outcomes 2, 6, 8)
3. define the needs of particular user groups of young people and their caregivers, and to develop services, programs and policies to meet these needs (Program-level learning outcomes 3, 5, 8);

4. prepare, design, write and deliver effective professional reports, presentations, and programs, working independently and/or cooperatively with others (Program-level learning outcomes 4, 7, 9).

COURSE MATERIALS

All required materials are available electronically through OWL within the Resources tab or directly in each week's module. The great majority of readings are also available through the Western Libraries catalogue (<http://lib.uwo.ca>) and the internet. Assigned book chapters have been scanned for you wherever possible or online access is provided. It may also be necessary to consult area libraries for assignment materials.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Expectations

The course will be structured primarily as an asynchronous learning experience where students work individually or in small or large groups (i.e. group work or forum participation). Students will be required to meet with assigned groups for group assignments at times decided by the group. Students should expect to spend a minimum of 10-12 hours per week on assignments, reading (i.e., assigned reading, research), and viewing and listening to resources.

Students are expected to "be present" in this class by exhibiting a regular online presence. Students are expected to read the required readings and complete the modules (any written or audio-visual lecture materials) in each week of the course, regardless of whether something is due or not that week. Students are responsible for this content.

Methods of Evaluation (Tentative)

All assignments are always due no later than 11:55pm Monday evenings. All work will be submitted through OWL.

Late Assignments and Extensions

Excluding the 48hr “grace period” for individual assignments, all late assignments will receive a 5% penalty per day including weekends. Extensions for medical, compassionate, or religious reasons will be considered if you notify me by e-mail in advance of the due date. If I do not hear from you, I will assume that you are accepting the late penalty. If you require ongoing flexibility or formal accommodation, please notify me and discuss your options with Brandi Borman at Graduate Student Services (bborman@uwo.ca).

- Individual Assignments Grace Period – there is a 48hr “grace period” for individual assignments. I encourage you to submit on the due date lest you fall behind in the course, but if you need to submit up to 48hrs late you may do so without penalty and without seeking an extension from me.
- Beyond the 48hr Grace Period - assignments submitted more than 48 hours past the due date will receive a 5% penalty per day including weekends. Longer extensions will be considered if you notify me by e-mail in advance of the due date.
- Group Assignments – there is no grace period for group assignments, due to the nature of these assignments. Group assignments submitted past the due date will receive a 5% penalty per day including weekends. Extensions will be considered if you notify me by e-mail in advance of the due date.
- End of Term – there is no grace period and extensions may not be granted for assignments that are due on or near the end of term. All assignments must be submitted by the last day of term because I am required by the university to submit final grades shortly after classes have ended.

Accessible Education Western (AEW)

Western is committed to achieving barrier-free accessibility for all its members, including graduate students. As part of this commitment, Western provides a variety of services devoted to promoting, advocating, and accommodating persons with disabilities in their respective graduate program.

Graduate students with disabilities (for example, chronic illnesses, mental health conditions, mobility impairments) are strongly encouraged to register with Accessible Education Western, a confidential service designed to support graduate and undergraduate students through their academic program. With the appropriate documentation, the student will work with both AEW and their graduate programs (normally their Graduate Chair and/or Course instructor) to ensure that appropriate academic accommodations to program requirements are arranged. These accommodations include individual counselling, alternative formatted literature, accessible campus transportation, learning strategy instruction, writing exams and assistive technology instruction.

Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a scholastic offence in the UWO Academic Handbook or Academic Offences in the MLIS Student Handbook.

Support Services
